

English Fear Buster

Parents realize that English is a MUST as children progress in school and life, but are unable to support or help with the situation. This workshop aims to bridge that gap. Using storybooks has been proven to be one of the most effective ways to improve language acquisition for both children and adults.

Why is reading in English important?

To help nurture a good reading habit, parent role modelling is essential. If parents want their children to have a positive attitude and exposure towards learning English and reading, what better way than to show that you, as a parent, are also willing to overcome your fear and learn in a fun way through English storybooks?

What you get:

Our professional trainer will provide a broad review of English basics and provide an extensive review of about 50 English books, along with exposure to English songs, rhymes, stories and drama, we aim to gradually dispel fears and instill joy in them as they begin reading with English books to their kids with new confidence and competence.
